2.—(1) The Minister may, whenever and so often as he thinks fit, by order prohibit, subject to such exceptions, if any, as he may think proper, the exportation of goods of any specified description, save under and in accordance with a licence.

(2) The Minister may, after consultation with the Minister for Foreign Affairs, by order prohibit, subject to such exceptions, if any, as he may think proper, the exportation of goods of any specified description to a specified destination, save under and in accordance with a licence.

(3) An order under this section may make provision for such other matters as appear to the Minister necessary for securing the due operation and enforcement of the order.

(4) The Minister may revoke or amend an order made under this section including this subsection.

(5) Every order made by the Minister under this section shall be laid before each House of the Oireachtas as soon as may be after it is made and, if a resolution annulling that order is passed by either such House within the next subsequent twenty-one days on which that House has sat after that order is laid before it, such order shall be annulled accordingly, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that order.

3.—(1) The Minister may, at his discretion, issue or refuse a licence.

(2) The Minister may attach to a licence such conditions as he may think proper and specifies in the licence.

(3) The Minister may revoke a licence issued under this section.

(4) Every person who, for the purpose of obtaining for himself or for any other person a licence, makes any statement or representation which is, to his knowledge, false or misleading in any material respect shall be guilty of an offence.

(5) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable, on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding £10,000 or three times the value of the goods in respect of the exportation of which the licence is sought, whichever is the greater, or, at the discretion of the court, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to both the fine and the imprisonment.

(5) No transfer or retransfer under this section of powers shall prejudice or affect the validity, operation or duration of any order made or thing done in exercise of such powers before such transfer or retransfer, as the case may be, by the Minister of the Government in whom such powers were for the time being vested, and references in any such order to the Minister of the Government by whom such order was made shall be construed and have effect as references to the Minister of the Government in whom such powers are for the time being vested.

5.—Every order made under an enactment repealed by this Act, and in force immediately before the passing of this Act shall continue in force as if made under the corresponding provision of this Act.
