protected
places

7. Any person who, in the vicinity of any protected place, knowingly obstructs, misleads or otherwise interferes with any person engaged on guard, sentry, patrol or other similar duty in relation to the protected place shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding ten years.

Possession of offensive weapons or materials

8.-(1) Any person who, without lawful authority or excuse, the burden of proof whereof shall lie upon him, has in his possession or in or upon any premises occupied by him any offensive weapon or any offensive material shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding ten years.

- (2) In this section-
 "Offensive material" means any substance, material or article made or adapted for use for causing or threatening injury to the person or Property, or intended by the person in question for such use, and includes-
- (a) any explosive as defined in the Explosives Act, 1963; Cap. 538
 - (b) any ammunition as defined in the Arms and Ammunition Ordinance; Cap. 223
 - (c) any inflammable liquid or substance, and any acid or gas.

9.-(1) The President may, by order published in the Gazette, declare-

- (a) any Organization which he recognizes as representative of the people, or of any category of the people, of a territory in Africa which is not an independent State (including Southern Rhodesia) or of the Republic of South Africa, to be a designated organization for the purposes of this section;
- (b) any body or agency composed of or representing African States (Or African and other States) whose objects include the establishment of independent States in territories of Africa which are not independent States, or the establishment of fully representative governments in States practising discrimination on grounds of colour or race, or any committee of such a body or agency, to be a designated agency for the purposes of this section.

The declaration of an organization or body or agency under this section as a designated organization or a designated agency, as the case may be, shall be conclusive evidence that it is an organization, body or agency to which this subsection refers.

- (2) Any person who-
- (a) for any purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of a designated organization, obtains, collects, records, publishes or communicates to any other person any secret code word or pass word, or any sketch, plan, model, article, note or other document or information which is calculated to be or might be or is intended to be directly or indirectly useful to the Government of any territory in Africa which is not independent State, or to the Government of the Republic of South Africa, or to any person or group of persons Purporting to exercise or exercising the powers of government in Southern Rhodesia; or
 - (b) for any purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of a State which is a member of or represented on a designated agency, collects, records, publishes or communicates to any other person any secret code word or Password, or any sketch, Plan, model, article, note or other document or information which-
 - (i) is prepared for the confidential use of, or in confidence by, such designated agency, or forms part of any record of its confidential proceedings; and
 - (ii) is calculated to be or might be or is intended to be directly or indirectly useful to the Government of any territory in Africa which is not an independent State, or to the Government of the Republic of South Africa, or to any person or group of Persons purporting to exercise or exercising the powers of government in Southern Rhodesia.

shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a term of imprisonment not exceeding twenty years.

(3) Where, in any proceedings against a person for an offence under this section, it is proved that such person has communicated, or attempted to communicate, any such matter referred to in subsection (2) relating to a designated organization, or prepared for or by or forming part of the records of a designated agency, as the case may be, to any person employed by a government having responsibility for, or jurisdiction in, any territory in Africa which is not an independent State, or by the Government of the Republic of South Africa or by any person or group of persons purporting to exercise or exercising the powers of government in Southern Rhodesia, he shall be presumed to have communicated, or attempted to communicate, such matter for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of such designated organization or of a State which is a member of or represented on such designated agency, as the case may be, unless the contrary is proved.

(4) For the avoidance of doubts it is hereby declared that for the purposes of this section a territory in Africa is not an independent State by reason of its forming an integral part of any other State other parts of which are situated outside Africa, unless prior to becoming such a part it was itself an independent State.

Harbouring

10.-(1) Any person who-

- (a) knowingly harbours or conceals any person whom he knows or has reasonable grounds for believing to be a person who is about to commit, or has committed an offence under this Act, or knowingly permits any such persons to meet or assemble in any premises in his occupation or under his control; or
- (b) having harboured or concealed any such person or permitted any such persons to meet or assemble in any premises in his occupation or under his control, wilfully omits or refuses to disclose to a police officer any information that it is in his power to give in relation to any such person, shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twenty years.

Attempts,
etc.

11. Any person who attempts to commit any offence under this Act, or solicits or incites or endeavours to persuade another person to commit any such offence, or aids or abets or does any act preparatory to the commission of such an offence, shall be guilty of an offence and liable on conviction to the same penalties as if he had been convicted of that offence.

Presumptions

12.-(1) If in any prosecution against any person for an offence under section 3 it is proved that he has been in communication with, or attempted to communicate with, a foreign agent in the United Republic or elsewhere it shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed "that he has, for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the United Republic, obtained or attempted to obtain information which might be or is intended to be directly or indirectly useful to a foreign power.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), but without derogating from the generality of that subsection, a person shall unless he proves the contrary, be deemed to have been in communication with a foreign agent if-

- (a) he has whether within or outside the United Republic, visited or addressed any communication to the address of or associated with, a foreign agent; or
- (b) whether within or outside the United Republic, the name or address of, or any other information regarding, a foreign agent has been found in his possession or under his control, or has been supplied by him to any other person or has been obtained by him from any other person.

(3) Any address, whether within or outside the United Republic, reasonably suspected of being an address used for the receipt of communications intended for a foreign agent, or at which a foreign agent resides or to which he resorts or at which he carries on business, shall be deemed to be the address of a foreign agent.

(4) If in a prosecution under this Act it is alleged that the accused acted for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the United Republic he shall, unless the contrary is proved, be deemed so to have acted if, from the circumstances of the case or his character or general conduct as proved, it appears that he acted for such a purpose.

(5) If in a prosecution under this Act it is alleged that anything was made, obtained, collected, recorded, published or communicated for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the United Republic and it is proved that the making, obtaining, collecting, recording, publishing or communicating was by any person other than a person acting under lawful authority it shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed that the purpose of the act or conduct in question was for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the United Republic.

(6) Where the lack of lawful authority or excuse is an element of an offence under this Act, the burden of proving such authority or excuse shall be on the accused and in the absence of such proof such lack shall be presumed.

13.-(1) If a magistrate is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed he may grant a search warrant authorizing any police officer named therein of or above the rank of assistant inspector, together with such other police officers and other persons who may be authorized by such named police officer, at any time to enter any premises, place, aircraft, ship, boat, train or other vehicle as the case may be named or described in the warrant, if necessary by force, and to search the same and every person, or receptacle found thereon or therein or in the vicinity thereof, and to seize, anything which he may find in the course of such search which is or may be evidence of an offence under this Act having been or being about to be committed or with regard to or in connection with which he, has reasonable grounds for suspecting that an offence has been or is about to be committed.

(2) Where it appears to a police officer of or above the rank of assistant inspector or to an officer in charge of police that the matter is one of such urgency that in the interests of the United Republic immediate action is necessary, he may by written order under his hand give to any police officer the like authority as may be given by the warrant of a magistrate under this section.

(3) Notwithstanding any written law to the contrary it shall not be necessary for anything found in the course of any search conducted in terms of a warrant or authority issued or given under this section to be brought before any court.

(4) If, at the conclusion of any proceedings, including proceedings on appeal, before any court against any person for an offence under this Act, application is made by or on behalf of the Director of Public Prosecutions for any property or article seized in the course of a search conducted in terms of a warrant or authority issued or given under this section to be forfeited to the Government on the ground that the return of such property or article would be prejudicial to the safety or interests of the United Republic, the court shall order that such property or article be forfeited to the United Republic notwithstanding that the accused may have been acquitted of the offence charged.

Arrest
warrant

14.-(1) Any person who is found committing an offence under this Act or who is reasonably suspected of having committed or having attempted to commit or being about to commit such an offence may be arrested by any police officer and detained.

(2) Any person arrested under the provisions of this section shall, whether or not the police enquiries are completed, be brought before a magistrate as soon as practicable.

Duty to give information
as to commission of

15.-(1) Where the Director or Public Prosecutions is satisfied that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed, and for believing that some person may be able to furnish information with regard thereto, he may, by writing under his hand, authorize a named officer to require that person to give such police officer any information in his power relating to such suspected or anticipated offence and, further, to require such person, upon tender to him of his reasonable expenses, to attend at such reasonable time and place as may be specified by such police officer.

(2) Any person who, having been required in terms of subsection (1) to give information or to attend at a specified time and place, wilfully fails to comply with such requirement or knowingly gives false information shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable, on conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years.

Authority of Director of Public
Prosecutions required for prosecution Power to exclude public
from court proceedings

16. Where any person is brought before a court on a charge under this Act no further proceedings in respect thereof shall be taken against him without the consent in writing of the Director of Public Prosecutions, save such as may be necessary by remand to secure the due appearance of the person charged.

17. Upon application in that behalf made by the prosecutor-

- (a) to the court conducting a preliminary inquiry or hearing a charge of an offence under this Act; or
- (b) to the court hearing an appeal from the decision of the court which heard such a charge, on the ground that the publication of any evidence given or to be given or any statement made or to be made at such inquiry or hearing would be prejudicial to the interests of the United Republic, such court shall order that all or any portion of the public shall be excluded from the court during the whole or any part of the hearing.

18.-(1) Where it appears to the Minister that it is expedient in the public interest so to do he may, by warrant under his hand, require of any person who owns or controls any apparatus within the United Republic used for the sending or receipt of telegrams to produce to the person named in the warrant the originals and transcripts of telegrams or of telegrams of any specified class or description, or of telegrams sent from or addressed to any specified person or place, and all Other Papers relating to any such telegram, and to allow the person so named to take copies or abstracts from all or any such originals, transcripts or papers.

(2) Any person who is required under subsection (1) to produce to the person named in the warrant any of the documents referred to in that subsection, or to allow such person to take copies of or abstracts from any such document, fails or refuses to produce to such person such document or, as the case may be, to allow such person to take a copy or abstract from such document, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years.

19. Notwithstanding any written law to the contrary no person charged with an offence under this Act shall be admitted to bail, either pending trial or pending appeal, if the Director of Public Prosecutions certifies in writing that it is likely that the safety or interests of the United Republic would thereby be prejudiced.

20.-(1) Any act, omission or other conduct constituting an offence under this Act shall constitute such offence wherever such conduct took place, whether within or outside the United Republic.

(2) Where an offence under this Act has been committed outside Tanganyika-

- (a) if the offence is triable by the High Court, the High Court shall have jurisdiction to try the person charged;
- (b) in any other case, the Person charged may be tried either by the High Court or by such court of a resident magistrate as the Chief Justice may direct.

21. Where any offence under this Act is committed by a body corporate, then, as well as the body corporate, any person who at the time of the commission of the offence, was concerned, as a director or officer, with the management of the affairs of such body corporate, shall be guilty of the offence and be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court that he had no knowledge, and could not by the exercise of reasonable diligence have had knowledge, of the commission of the offence.
